The Origins of Cahiers du Cinéma and Its Global Influence

To understand Cahiers du Cinéma's significance within Harvard film studies, it's essential to trace its origins and core philosophies. Founded in 1951 in Paris, Cahiers du Cinéma quickly became a pioneering publication, championing the auteur theory—a concept asserting that the director is the primary creative force behind a film, akin to an author of a literary work. This perspective challenged prevailing notions of film as a collaborative art and elevated the role of cinematic visionaries like Jean-Luc Godard, François Truffaut, and Claude Chabrol.

The magazine's influence extended well beyond France, shaping global film criticism and inspiring academic scholarship. Its emphasis on auteurism, stylistic analysis, and ideological critique laid the groundwork for contemporary film studies, making it a foundational text for students and scholars worldwide—including those at Harvard.
