Final Exam Review: Key Questions and Answers

Q1: Explain the concept of market segmentation and why it is important.

Answer:

Market segmentation involves dividing a broad consumer or business market into smaller, more manageable groups based on shared characteristics such as demographics, psychographics, geographic location, or behavioral traits. It allows marketers to tailor their strategies to specific groups, increasing relevance and effectiveness. Segmentation helps in allocating resources efficiently, identifying niche markets, and creating targeted marketing campaigns that resonate with consumers, ultimately leading to higher conversion rates and customer satisfaction.

Q2: Describe the difference between primary and secondary market research and give examples of each.

Answer:

Primary research involves collecting new, firsthand data directly from sources, such as through surveys, interviews, focus groups, or observations. For example, conducting a customer satisfaction survey after a product launch is primary research.

Secondary research uses existing data that has already been collected and published, such as industry reports, government statistics, academic journals, or competitor websites. An example is reviewing industry sales reports to understand market trends. Both types are essential; primary research provides specific insights, while secondary research offers broader context.
