The tradition of city-specific calendars in Louisville dates back to the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Initially, these were simple printed schedules designed primarily for residents to keep track of civic events and religious observances. As Louisville grew, so did the complexity and scope of these calendars.

In the early days, calendars were distributed through newspapers, churches, and local clubs, often focusing on community-centric events. The prominence of the Kentucky Derby, established in 1875, was an early anchor point around which many annual events were centered, and this tradition influenced the development of specialized calendars.
